

Joining your professional association gives you a voice in decisions that affect your classroom and career. By becoming a member, you'll gain support for both yourself and your students. Join in January or February and only pay dues for the remainder of the membership year—just about $1.50 a day! Plus, new members will be entered into exciting prize drawings.

Consider the reasons your colleagues from across the state have joined:

“
I am a member because I believe in the strength of collective advocacy and the critical support it provides educators. Just as I wouldn't drive without car insurance, I wouldn't work in education without our association's protection and resources.

~ Kate Regler,
Special Ed. Teacher, Lincoln

It's about solidarity. My involvement with NSEA is all about fighting for the respect our profession deserves, and being there for my colleagues when they're in need.

~ Bryant Bull, Social Studies Teacher, Millard

I'm a member because I want a voice in my school, community and state when it comes to what is best in education. I want to represent other teachers in my district and beyond and make sure we band together to get the respect, resources and salary we deserve.

~ Abby Brehm, Science Teacher, Hastings
